

CFRE[®]

Certifying fundraising executives
Setting standards in philanthropy

CFRE International Annual Report 2013

From the Chair

James Caldarola, CFRE
CFRE Chair, 2013

As I think about 2013 at CFRE International, the word that comes to mind is “change.” Changes in the fundraising profession—and changes that CFRE International has undertaken in order to fulfill its mission of certifying fundraising professionals aspiring to the highest standards of ethics, competence and service to the philanthropic sector.

One of the biggest changes in the fundraising profession is that it has grown to be truly international in scope. As CFRE International’s periodic Job Analysis research report has consistently demonstrated, 85% to 90% of what fundraisers do is the same the world over. This fact has caused a significant amount of serious discussion over the past several years among members of CFRE International’s Board of Directors as we have considered how best to reflect this reality within the CFRE credential. The result: In June 2013, the CFRE credential went global. Using the same Test Content Outline, the CFRE International Exam Committee developed a new version of the exam that focuses on the shared core of fundraising tasks and knowledge that unite fundraisers worldwide. This change was evolutionary—not revolutionary—and we’re confident that this global exam brings real value to holders of the CFRE by making the credential even more internationally recognized, credible, and portable. CFRE International’s transition at the same time to computer-based testing around the world also has increased exam accessibility. Now, fundraising professionals in more than 80 countries can take the exam near where they live and earn the CFRE credential.

From the Chair

Another big change—and one that we made specifically with CFRE certificants in mind—was a planned investment in significant upgrades to the CFRE application portal and website. Our certificants told us that our old website did not reflect the vibrancy of the CFRE credential, and the application process—which required the mailing of a hard-copy application—was cumbersome for busy professionals. We listened to you—and our new application portal and website were launched in November 2013. In addition to an updated look and a completely online application process, the new website also includes enhanced features such as a Career Center for posting and searching jobs and an online application form for organisations seeking CFRE Continuing Education Points for their educational programmes.

With the conclusion of 2013, I also faced a change as I ended my two years as Chair of the CFRE International Board of Directors. It has been my privilege to lead an organisation that has constantly been an inspiration to the fundraising profession in working to create a world where philanthropy is practiced in an environment of trust, respect, and accountability. As Phil Schumacher takes on the responsibility as Chair, I am sure that CFRE International will continue to respond to change in the sector and be responsive to those we serve.

Accreditation

In June 2013, Certified Fund Raising Executive International Credentialing Board received acceptance of its National Commission for Certifying Agencies (NCCA) annual report. This acceptance is an indication of CFRE's continued best practices in operating a certification organisation.

NCCA, the accrediting arm of the Institute for Certification Excellence (ICE), grants accreditation to a select group of organisations that demonstrate compliance with the NCCA Standards for the Accreditation of Certification Programs.

The accreditation process includes a comprehensive and independent expert analysis of the certification programme against the highest industry standards.

CFRE International believes our continued accreditation by NCCA serves as an indicator to the nonprofit sector, donors, and other stakeholders that the CFRE is a reliable tool for measuring that a fundraising professional has mastered the set of knowledge, skills, and abilities to be an ethical and effective fundraiser.

Validity

Validity Tables

During 2013, a total of 657 new candidates applied to the CFRE programme and 651 examinations were administered at numerous computer-based testing (CBT) locations worldwide. A total of 393 individuals were granted initial certification as a Certified Fund Raising Executive (CFRE) bringing the total number of current CFRE certificants to 5282.

Current exam forms reflect a Test Content Outline based on the international Job Analysis Survey conducted in 2009/2010 in eight countries—Australia, Brazil, Canada, Italy, Kenya, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and the United States. The following statistics are for all forms of the exam in 2013.

Explanation of Terms

Total Scored Items on the Exam: In the first testing window of 2013, the examination consisted of 225 questions; 25 of those were pre-test questions that are being evaluated for possible inclusion in an exam at a later date. In subsequent testing windows of 2013, a new global form of the examination was instituted. This examination consisted of 200 questions; 25 of those were pre-test questions that are being evaluated for possible inclusion in an exam at a later date. Information on how candidates perform on pre-test questions is being collected without the questions affecting the candidate's score.

Total Scaled Score Possible: This is the highest score possible and represents a perfect score. CFRE International uses a scaled score. The scale runs from 200–800. The passing score is 500. The 500 corresponds to the number of questions a candidate must answer correctly, based on which form of the exam the candidate is taking. Scaled scoring is a common practice among certification programmes with multiple forms of the exam.

Validity

Explanation of Terms

Passing Point (scaled): This is the score a candidate must receive in order to pass. It represents the number of items candidates need to answer correctly in order to pass the exam. The number of questions that must be answered correctly is determined by evaluating the overall difficulty level of the exam. The more difficult the exam, the fewer questions a candidate would have to answer correctly in order to be assessed as having mastered the content. CFRE International uses the Modified Angoff Method and the Direct Consensus Standard Setting Model to establish the passing point. The exam is not scored on a “curve” and there is no predetermined number or percentage of candidates that will pass. The passing score is set for each form of the exam and does not change until a new exam form is developed.

Mean Score: This is the average score of all candidates who took the exam during 2013. A passing score is 500. CFRE International uses criterion-referenced scoring. This means the passing point is set before the first exam and does not change between exam administrations. CFRE International does not score its exam on a curve. This means that it does not matter what group of people a candidate tests with, or how large that group is. CFRE International also does not predetermine the number of people it will certify in a given year—performance on the exam is up to the candidate.

Range of Scores: This shows the range of candidate scores between the lowest scoring candidate and the highest. The range for the CFRE exam is considered typical for a professional certification programme. No one has scored 200 points, which would indicate the candidate guessed at all the questions. No one has scored a perfect score either, indicating the difficulty level is appropriate for the candidate population.

KR-20 Reliability Coefficient: This is one of the most important programme statistics. It indicates the reliability and consistency of the exam, or how well the exam distinguishes between candidates who are “masters” of the content tested versus those who have not yet “mastered” the content covered. Professional certification programmes strive for KR-20 results of 0.80 or higher. These statistics indicate that the exam is quite dependable for assessing a candidate’s mastery of the information tested.

Standard Error of Measurement: The standard error of measurement yields an estimate of the average amount of error associated with a CFRE test score. A large standard error indicates that a significant amount of error exists in the test score. The small standard error results suggest that the CFRE tests are precise measures of baseline knowledge in the field of fundraising at the five-year level.

Validity

Explanation of Terms

Content Area Performance: The CFRE examination administered during 2013 was broken down into six major content areas of fundraising: Current and Prospective Donor Research; Securing the Gift; Relationship Building; Volunteer Involvement; Leadership and Management; and Ethics and Accountability. Candidate performance across those content areas is monitored.

During the first testing window of 2013, candidates taking the US and Canadian forms of the exam performed best in the domain of Volunteer Involvement. Candidates in the first testing window scored lowest in the domain of Securing the Gift; this is understandable as this domain represents the broadest content area, covering all of the specific fundraising techniques and strategies. The CFRE candidate pool is involved with a great diversity of fundraising; it is reasonable to expect that not all candidates are masters of every type of fundraising. During subsequent testing windows during which Global forms of the exam were administered, candidates scored highest in the domain of Ethics and Accountability and lowest in Leadership and Management. This may reflect a lack of available education for fundraising professionals in this domain or limited on-the-job exposure to certain leadership and management functions.

Validity Tables

CFRE International assesses the knowledge, skills and competencies of the fundraising profession as identified in a rigorous international Job Analysis study. This research informs the Test Content Outline, on which the exam is based.

Best practice in the certification profession requires that a new Job Analysis be performed every five to seven years. In 2009/2010, CFRE completed its most recent Job Analysis study, which was reflected in new forms of the exam in 2013.

CFRE uses a cadre of trained, currently certified fundraising professionals to help develop, vet and approve the CFRE examination. The examination in each country is developed, vetted and approved by professionals from that country. In addition, the passing standard is set by a panel of fundraising professionals.

Every draft test question must be linked to a topic area found on the Test Content Outline and referenced to at least one source on the CFRE Resource Reading List before it will be reviewed.

CFRE International continues to experience a healthy recertification rate well above the average rate for voluntary certification programmes.

Sustainability

Since its beginning as an independent organisation in 2001, CFRE International has become self-sustaining and continues to experience steady increases in the overall number of CFREs.

CFRE International derives 82% of its revenue from candidate fees for both initial certification and recertification. The remaining 12% is made up of fees paid by Participating Organisations to gain access to the credential at reduced rates for members and from continuing education provider fees, job vacancy postings and sales of certificate frames. All revenue is put back into the programme to ensure the validity, credibility and sustainability of the exam.

The Board of Directors of CFRE International is committed to ensuring a reliable and credible certification programme for all candidates and certificants, ensuring investments in ongoing exam development activities and sufficient investment in organisational capacity.

CFRE International Consolidated Financial Report

In 2013, CFRE International made a significant investment of nearly $170,000 from organizational reserves for technology upgrades to better serve the CFRE International community. These upgrades included a new online application portal and website. The consolidated financial report below shows only calendar year income and expenses; it does not include the significant investment from organizational reserves that occurred in 2013. If the investment from reserves were included in the consolidated financial report, CFRE International would have shown a positive net income of approximately $40,000 in 2013.
